Retrograde Femoral Nail System

Threaded for enhanced fixation

The TRIGEN META-NAIL Retrograde Femoral Nail is the latest addition to the TRIGEN family of intramedullary nails. With a full range of sizes, the Retrograde Femoral Nail is a comprehensive approach to the treatment of femoral fractures. Enhanced fixation via threaded screw holes and polyethylene bushings offer better solutions for the fixation of complex fractures.

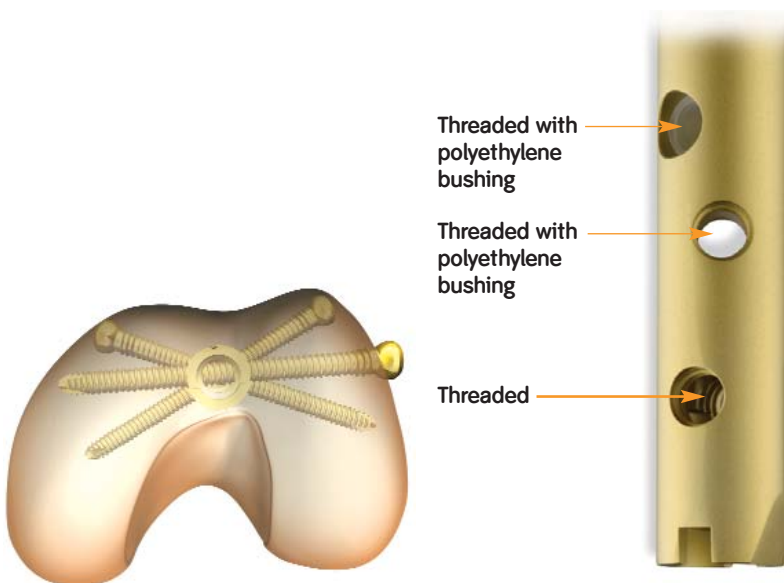

TRIGEN[◊] META-NAIL[◊] Retrograde Femoral Nail System

Indications

The TRIGEN META-NAIL Retrograde Femoral Nail is indicated for fractures of the femur including stable and unstable distal metaphyseal fractures, diaphyseal fractures, intra-articular fractures, peri-prosthetic fractures, non-unions, mal-unions and for the prophylactic nailing of impending pathological fractures.

Features

- Multi-planar distal locking hole configuration for optimal fixation
- Threaded screw holes and polyethylene bushings enhance fixation and minimize post-operative fragment translation
- Nail cap locks most distal screw for additional fixation
- Anatomic 2.0m AP Bow minimizes anterior cortical impingement and enhances fit
- Elimination of distal Herzog Bend optimizes insertion site and facilitates easier implant insertion
- Full range of sizes for a comprehensive and accurate approach to fracture fixation
- Uses standard TRIGEN locking screws for system compatibility
- Titanium alloy for strength, flexibility and biocompatibility
